Military Memorials App

Executive Summary

The Military Memorial App allows people to access the National Inventory of Canadian Military Memorials database in a user friendly way so that we can research and remember important events and battles which developed Canada into the country it is today. Students, teachers, tourists, tour guides and any other canadian can use the app to research and discover important and often not so well known battles and events from the past. This app contains detailed information about the thousands of memorials which exist across canada to commemorate those who served their country.

Mobile Platform

A mobile Android application is an excellent medium for this type of program because it must be easy to use and portable. Users of the app can open it no matter where they are and find information about historic canadian military monuments. The mobile platform provides accessibility to a wide number of users while allowing users to use the app when they at a memorial site.

Business Case

This app provides a means for furthering education about canadian history and encouraging tourism of memorial sites. The Canadian government may be interested in funding an application like this to achieve the goal of furthering education and tourism.

This app could also use advertisements to target teachers and students as well as tourists in order to profit from its use. This way the app would be worth the initial development investment.
